Imagine a world with zero limitations on your ability. Imagine a life of blissful fulfillment where all your wildest dreams and aspirations are now past accomplishments. Imagine the ideal existence for yourself with an eternal abundance of love, happiness, and thriving prosperity. According to the laws of physics, specifically the law of relativity, the human mind is incapable of comprehending something it cannot relate to something else. Therefore, all things existing in the imagination must correlate directly to something real and possible. Richard Corey reveals the key to turn possibility into reality in The Blueprint.
